

Survivors with Disabilities Living in Rural Communities

- Survivors of sexual violence with disabilities face barriers to receiving services, period.
- Living in a rural community, it may be even more difficult to receive accessible services.
- Local culture around disability, limited accessible transportation options, a lack of confidentiality, and fewer available resources are all challenges in rural communities.
- Creative approaches about how to provide the most accessible services is critical.
- Arc NM Sexual Assault advocates can help provide options and creative solutions for accessing supports and services!
